6. Summary of the event:

Abhivyakti's workshop, 'Quill to Query', unfolded by our anchor Punyavee, was as an enriching journey bridging literature and practical insights into the world of writing and publishing. The session commenced with warm welcome extending to dignitaries, the audience, and esteemed guests, Ms. Paloma Dutta and Dr. Nandini Sen.

Dr. Sen shared invaluable advice on writing, emphasizing the importance of perseverance and not discarding any creative work. She drew inspiration from her Bengali culture, challenging societal norms through her rebellious childhood. The audience actively engaged, providing feedback on her book, 'The Second Wife and Other Stories', asking intriguing questions and receiving reading recommendations.

Next, Ms. Paloma Dutta took the stage, shedding light on the business of books and demystifying the workings of publishing houses. She encouraged aspiring writers to find their voice and navigate the publishing process. The audience posed insightful questions, delving into topics like the criteria for a publish-worthy book and strategies for success in the literary market.

The event continued with a seamless transition to Dr. Deepti Bhardwaj, who opened the mic for students to interact with our guest. Afterwards, the president Nimisha welcomed Dr. Pragya Deshmukh to share words of wisdom. Dr. Deshmukh stressed the importance of staying true to one's message in writing. Gratitude was expressed to the Principal, Prof. Rakesh Kumar for his support and encouragement.

As the event concluded, participants captured the essence in shared moments, and volunteers received acknowledgment through distributed coupons. 'Quill to Query' not only provided valuable insights into the literary world but also inspired budding writers to embark on their writing journeys with confidence and authenticity.

6. Summary of the event:

The event led by the society's secretary, Mangla, was an enriching journey bridging reading and writing, diving into the world of creativity and literature. This trip commenced with warm greetings from all members of the society and with the help of our convenor, Dr. Deepti Bhardwaj.

The arrangements made for the Book Fair were fantastic as always and the students of the English department, under association with the society Ubiquitous, along with Abhivyakti's members reached the venue at 11 A.M. Publishers from various genres set up their stalls, offering a wide range of books catering to all interests. There were separate sections for fiction, non-fiction, children's literature, academic publications, and more. The fair is always an excellent opportunity for book lovers to explore new releases, discover hidden gems, and interact with authors.

Dr Deepti Bharadwaj and Ms. Paloma Dutta joined us at the Harper Collins stall, where Ms. Dutta introduced various books of different genres and recommended a few books for us to read to polish our skills and increase our knowledge, which would help us in every walk of life.

The display at the fair was visually appealing, with colourful banners, attractive book covers, and creatively designed stalls.

4. Nature of event: Inter-college
5. Invited speakers, their affiliation and brief profile of each speaker: None.
6. Summary of the event

The Lyrical Fest was an inspiring and creative event where participants were given a unique challenge: to frame a story based on a given lyric. Organized under Splendour'24, this innovative approach sparked the imagination of all attendees, leading to a diverse array of captivating narratives. Unfolded by our anchors Punyavee and Vishali, the day began with greetings to Dr. Deepti Bhardwaj and Dr. Alankar, along with all the participants who came to our college from various parts of the city.

Herein, all participants were given the chance to pick a random lyrical prompt and write stories and narratives based on those lyrics. This encouraged a blend of musical inspiration and literary creativity.
