4. (a) Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

Socrates taught that 'the man who is master of himself is truly free'. By being master of oneself he meant first knowing oneself, one's own faults and weaknesses and one's own good points, without making any pretence and without being vain, and then being able to control oneself.

This knowledge of himself was what helped a man to be courageous, and the courageous man has a very important sort of freedom from fear. Socrates himself, because he was not afraid of the consequences, always felt free to teach what he thought was right, however unpopular this might make him with the powerful people in Athens.

Questions :

- (i) Who is truly 'free' according to Socrates ? 2
- (ii) How does knowledge of oneself help a person ? 3
- (iii) How did Socrates apply the above principle ? 3
- (iv) Give antonyms (words with opposite meanings) of the following words : 2

(1) Weakness

(2) Important

(3) Fear

(4) Unpopular.

(b) Do any one of the following : 5

Using your own words, write a summary of the following passage in about 50 words :

Money can be abused as any other thing can be abused. Money in our day means power, and if a man uses that power to buy off men so that they may betray their homes, their friends or their country, or if a man uses his money for purely selfish purposes, he is abusing his power. All young people want money, but money to be worthwhile, must be earned. A person who inherits money or gets money from gambling or profiteering in any other way in which he does not earn it, never knows the real value and purpose of money. Often he abuses it rather than uses it. What are the uses of money ? Money is a medium of exchange. It is to be saved not hoarded, for sickness, old-age, investment and service to others. It is to be given away to relieve suffering, for study, for mission, for welfare work, for anything that will make the world a better and happier place to live in.

Or

Briefly discuss the various types of translation.

5. (a) Write a letter to the Editor of a Newspaper regarding rash and reckless driving by the drivers of DTC buses. 10
