Ajay Kr. Satpathy Memorial Lecture

On

Russia-Ukraine-India Axis: Compromise or Commitment

12-04-22

DETAILED REPORT OF THE SEMINAR

Ajay Kr. Satpathy Memorial Lecture

Ajay Kumar Satpathy Memorial lecture was organised by Department of Political Science, Ram Lal Anand College, University of Delhi on 12-04-22 from 1:30 PM to 3:00 PM on google meet. The topic of the special lecture was Russia-Ukraine-India Axis: Compromise or Commitment. The guest speaker was Harsh V Panth. The seminar began with a short introduction of the speaker. The speaker began his lecture by explaining the change in global politics. Sir Harsh V Panth stated that in 1990s we have witnessed a unipolar world system where America was the soul comprehensive global power but today, we see a multipolar system. America is still perhaps the most powerful country but it has declined to what it was in 1990s. When we look at the first stage of India's response to this crisis, it was largely focused on bringing back its citizens via operation Ganga. India was successful in evacuating its citizens owing to its relatively stable ties with the other states. The war has brought a global crisis in the world but India has refrained to condemn Russia openly. Sir concluded his lecture by stating that "India is trying to balance its stand in this global crisis." The vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. Nidhi Yadav. At the end a feedback form was circulated.
